PALLANT'S FRIENDS GET SURREAL

Continuing the string of excellent exhibitions at Chichester's Pallant House Gallery comes a rather bizarre proposition this summer. Opening on 19 June, Surreal Friends will look at the work of three leading female surrealist artists, Leonora Carrington, Kati Horna and Remedios Varo. Meanwhile, the gallery's Surrealism in Sussex display will take a very local look at the genre with work by Roland Penrose and Lee Miller.

URBIS ART FINALISTS REVEALED

The search for the Urbis Prize winner is under way and more than 100 entrants have been whittled down to 20 finalists. Artists were asked to submit works that 'captured the spirit of the West Country' and one lucky winner stands to win £1,000. Our favourite is Liane Stevenson's College Green, pictured, but works from all the finalists go on show at Bristol's Grant Bradley Gallery from 5 June.
